

INTERNET

BOOK I

1. Local sites

When one searches, local listings for example, those associated with friends are listed first. For example, sites, journals, email directories, chat, work, video are listed.

The following algorithm lets the user see what a friend has bought at a store. Given a friend's name, it returns all the items that that friend has bought.

A thought is that there may be a mutated site. An algorithm detecting a mutated site finds one in which the thread of discussion changes from discussing an idea to discussing another idea, or vice versa.